GOD'S NURSES PRACTICE LOGO PSYCHOSOMATIC MEDICINE TOO!!

Periodically friends of CHF send interesting information from all parts of the world. It would be interesting for supporters of CHF to read the mail which comes to our office each day. The response to the recent 700 Club and PTL Broadcasts in which Kay and I appeared has been tremendous. We are getting letters from everywhere requesting the names of Christian doctors. Ben Kinchelow asked how to obtain a Christian doctor. I told him that we know of many at CMF. We are now being deluged with requests by mail and phone for names and addresses! This shows that people are beginning to insist upon Christian medical and nursing care.

I am reminded of Paul's statement in Ephesians 5:14, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee life." God's people are awakening and arising from the dead and Jesus is pouring out His light upon all flesh. Consider this note from Mrs. Myrna Sinclair, a graduate of Ottawa Civic Hospital, who is employed as a nurse in Regina, Saskatchewan: "In these recent years, much of our nursing has been focused on two parts of man. One, the emotional or mind (psycho), the other the physical or body (soma). Unfortunately many nurses have not been taught to consider the third part of man, the spiritual (pneuma). Nurses are knowledgeable about the first two parts, but they often leave the spiritual side of the patient to the on-call minister. The injured spiritual element of man is painful and in a crisis situation the nurse should have resources within herself from which to draw. The objective, to give total patient care, must include the spiritual element of man. Our goal, to nurse to the expectations of a patient and/or his family, is not being reached when we cannot help them to see through the haze of grief—with some inner peace. Nursing man's spirit is quite a feat in the age of "God is Dead" philosophy. One must know oneself and one's patient. The priorities of life have to be worked through, especially in the care giver. The care giver who does not realize that God is alive and well, will go to her patient with a shaky heart and confused responses. To our patients, in anguish, we can give nursing with gentleness, love and hope. We need not force our belief on the patient, but hold it within ourselves and our sincerity comes through. Our conviction and love will calm the patient. The Health Care givers must nurse to the spiritual aspect of man to give hope."

Appended to the letter which arrived from an anonymous source is this quotation, "Blessed are they who were not satisfied to let well enough alone. All the progress the world has made, we owe to them."

Praise God that there are nurses who are considering the pneuma (Logos) in their nursing practice. Certainly we have practiced psychosomatic—"veterinary" medicine and nursing long enough. We are more than animals, we are human beings. We are spirit, soul and body—at least potentially. We are beginning to insist upon being treated that way. For those who are evolutionists and want to consider their relationship being one toward the higher primates rather than toward Jesus and Jehovah there may not be this kind of concern for triune medicine. However, for those who have found the Savior and have come alive in the spirit, we are beginning to desire a new kind of medical and nursing practice—Logo Psychosomatic Medicine. Let us continue to pray and aim in our own lives and practices for this kind of relationship with our patients, with one another and with God.
