OUTER AND INNER SPACE

The present era is a time when man easily projects via his imagination into the realms of the planets and galaxies of outer space. Men have walked on the moon, and space vehicles have explored the far reaches of Mercury, Mars, Venus, and Jupiter. Through the use of great telescopes and radio beams, astro physics and computers, man projects further and further away from himself and planet Earth. Alexis Carrel writing in "Man the Unknown" page 42 and 43, "No advantage is to be gained by increasing the number of mechanical inventions. It would perhaps be well not to accord so much importance to discoveries of physics, astronomy, and chemistry. In truth, pure science never directly brings us any harm. But when its fascinating beauty dominates our mind and enslaves our thoughts in the realm of inanimate matter, it becomes dangerous. Man must now turn his attention to himself and to the cause of his moral and intellectual disability. What is the good of increasing the comfort, the luxury, the beauty, the size, and the complications of our civilization, if weakness prevents us from guiding him to our best advantage? It is really not worthwhile to go on elaborating a way of living that is bringing about the demoralization and the disappearance of the noblest elements of the great races. It would be far better to pay more attention to ourselves than to construct fast-er steamers, more comfortable automobiles, and cheaper radios or telescopes for examining the structure of the remote nebulae. What real progress will be accomplished when aircraft take us to Europe or China in a few hours? Is it necessary to increase production unceasingly so that men may consume larger and larger quantities of useless things? There is not a shadow of a doubt that mechanical, physical, and chemical sciences are incapable of giving us intelligence, moral discipline, health, nervous equilibrium, security, and peace. Our curiosity must turn aside from its present path and take another direction. It must leave the physical and physiological in order to follow the mental and the spiritual. (The sciences) have not paid any great attention to man's affective and moral form, his inner life, his character, his aesthetic and religious needs, and the common substratum of organic and psychologic activities, the intimate relations of the individual and of his mental and spiritual environment." It is stated that as long as man can be enthralled with matters external to himself he will fail to consider himself and those things which have to do with heart and mind, his true domain of life.

Through the gift of seeing, man tends always to project himself outward. Looking at the great waves sweeping in Great Day." (Jude 6) If the heavens are the Lord's heavens, it would seem logical that problems will ensue when the man invades the heavenly realms. The penalty ultimately will come about because man continually eats of the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil and fails since the coming of Jesus, our Messiah, to eat of the tree of life.

When the occasional person elects to consider Christ and His life which can become man's personal possession, that man can launch into realms of inner space far more thrilling and personally edifying than all the areas of destructive outer projection.

The whole debate going on today between creationism and the theory of evolution is a battle between scientific rationalism and spirituality. Scientists and rationalists in general accept without reservation a theoretical system shot full of frauds: (the Piltdown man); and disappearing "missing links": (the Peking man); and irrationality: (natural selection producing super species, whereas, in actuality modern man is deteriorating and not improving). Spawning forth from this exteriorized construction of himself in acceptance of evolutionary theory, man has produced the daughters of the error: abortion, euthanasia, the drug culture, immorality, and humanism.

Projecting within, using the guide book for the journey, God's Word, the human being finds an entirely different world of love, peace, joy, and beauty. "...The Kingdom of heaven is within", Luke 17:21.

This is extremely important for all men, but particularly for those who are for one reason or another unable to participate in the mad dash for holistic health and competition for success and achievement.

Our battles and our victories are on the level of the inner man - the spiritual man. As natural man, projecting outward, resentful, full of hurt and maddened by rejection, misdiagnosis and mismanagement, one could be defeated and dying. Instead, we achieve inward happiness and joy, God's peace which can only happen when one touches the Divine, the hom of Jesus' garment. Then the poetry comes, a hymn of beauty and hope, the song of songs, joy unspeakable, and peace that passes all understanding. The projection inward for every man through Jesus Christ and His Holy Spirit edifies and saves us from the peril of the journey outward. A balance is required with heavier weight toward one's life within rather than the life without.

In Psalms 115:16 we read (Amplified Bible), "The heavens are the Lord's heavens, but the earth has He given to the children of men." One must recall that, "...the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the

A WORD ABOUT GIVING TO CMF — A GOOD TIME TO GIVE

Concerning the 1986 Tax Reform Act, the law's provisions for charitable gifts remains substantially intact, but (and it is a big but) it is evident that the lower rates mean less benefit to the giver and thus less tax savings after January 1, 1987. It is time to consider increasing your gift to CMF now. A generous contribution at this point will make a difference in 1986 for both you and for Christian Medical Foundation.

I was reading Ezekiel, Chapter 16, verses 49 and 50, "Behold, this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom, pride, fulness of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her and her daughters, neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy. And they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore, I took them away as I saw good." It is apparent there were more sins in Sodom than simply their moral abominations. The fact of the matter is, that the qualities of pride and having an abundance of food as well as an abundance of idleness is surely characteristic of our Nation. Also, there are not too many people who actually "strengthen the hand of the poor and needy." We have made science our god and we have had the distinct tendency to seek first the kingdom of the world, rather than the Kingdom of God.

As we face 1987, I entreat the members of CMF to seek

Dear Friends -

As we say good-bye to 1986, I want to thank Jesus for His goodness and faithfulness to us in what He accomplished at the Littlest Angel this past year.

The Angel renovation project brought in $16,000.00 in $100.00 gifts. Our beautiful leaded stained glass angels have been sent to many of you throughout the United States and Canada. Also, our own lives have been challenged to trust Him more and reach out to what is before us in 1987, our 25th anniversary of Christian Medical Foundation!

As we've traveled through 1986 one step at a time, He met our need. Every bill is paid, the shop is brimming with lovely unusual gift items and books, and we have $1,000.00 in our garden and awning fund. To complete the gardens and awnings we need $4,500.00. If you would like to be part of our lovely gardens surrounding the shop, we will be happy to send you one of our leaded stained glass angels for a donation of $100.00.

The shop was created to help CMF with its salaries and running expenses. Volunteers work in the shop so our overhead is kept to a minimum.

May Jesus bless you and keep you and may 1987 be the year the Holy Spirit brings our entire families into the fold. "The year of the Christian household!"

Love,

Kay
