Dear Friends of CMF,

Recently the small village of Embden, North Dakota, held its centennial celebration. My great-grandfather, Thomas C. Hall and his family, lived on a large acreage nearby during the late 1800’s. My grandmother Reed lived there as a young woman and married my beloved grandfather, who was an engineer on the railroad.

My grandfather and his siblings were all born in the general area which really has not changed greatly in the past century.

There are not many buildings in Embden, but in typical American and Christian tradition, the most imposing structure is a lovely Lutheran Church. The church and its grounds are the primary focus of life in this small typically American western village.

For most of America the church is still the most important edifice in every town. This is true in New England, the South, the Northwest, and everywhere across the United States and Canada also.

Surprisingly there are very few deserted churches these days. Kay and I once saw a church in Massachusetts, which was being converted, into a home. On a trip to Ontario, Canada, we saw a lovely church, which had been painted lime green and turned into an auto supply store.

Here in Tampa, we have purchased a deserted church near our Christian Medical Foundation headquarters. We have created a beautiful place of healing and worship for all people who need healing or have been given up medically, to come and receive hope and wholeness from Jesus Christ our Lord.

In September our Tuesday meetings will resume, Kay teaching her Bible Class in the morning and I will be speaking in the afternoon, followed by a healing service.

The poor, deserted, sad little frame church, over 70 years old has been made into a most beautiful chapel of love and hope. When you come to Tampa, please visit this healing place where Jesus’ love abounds and each life is surrounded by God’s peace and His Agape love.

We want to thank each of you who gave so generously to help complete the chapel, as we continue to touch the lives of many doctors and lay persons.

George Kaufman, M.D.

On June 27, 2000, Christian Medical Foundation lost a most beloved friend, Dr. George Kaufman, who went to be with the Lord. Dr. Kaufman had been a member of Christian Medical Foundation for many, many years. His life exemplified Christian excellence in Medicine and in the way he treated his patients and lived his life. We will miss George and we extend our prayers to his wife Barbara, son Aaron and his wife, Tawnya, who is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Reed, and granddaughter, Rebekah.
